

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

• Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Let's review!

Learning Outcome

Discuss factual and abstract information about common everyday or job related topics in both work and social contexts appropriate for the interlocutor.

Can Do Statements

- I can discuss hopes and expectations for the future.
- I can express necessity, duty, and advice.
- I can express my work responsibilities.

Ask your partner:

- Do you enjoy looking for and applying to jobs? Why or why not?
- How do you decide if you want you to apply for a job?

Let's Explore!

Who feels like they're biting off more than they can chew?

* To "bite off more than you can chew" means to try to do too much.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Adam: Kristi, will you be applying for this position?
- Kristi: I don't know yet. We will only have been working as editorial assistants for a month next week. Are we ready to take on all these new responsibilities?
- Adam: I don't think I'm capable of keeping up with the position. Having been given all these tasks as an editorial assistant has kept me busy. You should definitely apply though. You'd be perfect.
- Kristi: I'll think about it. You saw the duties and responsibilities, didn't you? There'll be a lot to be taken on. I don't want to end up biting off more than I can chew ... but I do love being given a challenge.
- Adam: I feel I've been drowning in work. I'm constantly trying to keep up with the demands.
- Kristi: You need to stay positive, Adam. You've been doing a great job. Boris wouldn't have told us about the position if he didn't think we could do well. Besides, I think being promoted to junior editor would be cool.
- Adam: Sure, but being bossed around by us wouldn't be fun.
- Kristi: Just think of it like this Adam, in a few years we could be like Boris! We'll have been working in the industry for a while.
- Adam: And we'll have been writing copy for book jackets for ages.
- Kristi: Hey! I didn't mind doing that assignment.
- Adam: I only finished that assignment because I copied your notes which I still owe you for.
- Kristi: You can thank me by doing all the legwork for our next assignment.
- Adam: Speaking of assignments, I've been trying to get a hold of this person I want to interview. I will have been waiting to hear from them for a week.
- Kristi: What are you talking about? Have you been assigned something new by Boris?
- Adam: No, this is something I've taken on myself, more of a personal assignment
- ...

Let's Practice!

Is Kristi able to keep up?

Instructions: Match parts of the sentences from Column A to those in Column B. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

COLUMN A

1. Having been given all these tasks
2. You should definitely
3. There'll be a lot
4. I do love being
5. I'm constantly trying to
6. You need to
7. I ought to get a hold of

COLUMN B

- () given a challenge.
- () keep up with the demands.
- () as an editorial assistant has kept me busy.
- () this person I want to interview.
- () to be taken on.
- () stay positive.
- () apply though.

Let's Practice!

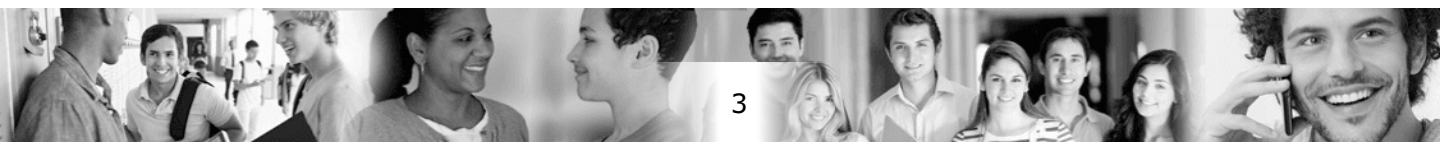

Let's discuss the future!

Instructions: Use the options from the Word Bank to correctly complete the sentences. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

Word Bank

been waiting / been working / be thinking / be applying / been writing

1. We'll have _____ in the industry for a while.
2. We'll have _____ copy for book jackets for ages.
3. I'll _____ for the position.
4. He'll _____ about what he can do.
5. I will have _____ to hear from them for a week.

Extension Activity

Give us some advice!

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Think about the expression "to bite off more than you can chew". Write about a time when you have done this. When did you realize it was too much for you to do by yourself?
- After you have written down your response, think of the advice you would give someone who was in a similar situation.
- Use modals, passive infinitives and gerunds when giving advice.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I identify what an expression means and make a connection to my life.

☐ ☐

I write about an event in my personal or work life.

☐ ☐

I use my personal experience to give someone else advice.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- capable (adjective): having the qualities or ability needed to do something e.g. I don't think I'm capable of keeping up with the position.
- book jacket (noun): a paper cover of a book which you can remove e.g. We'll have been writing copy for book jackets for ages.
- to copy (verb): to look at someone else's work and write the same thing as they have e.g. I copied your notes which I still owe you for.
- legwork (noun): the hard tedious work that has to be done in order to achieve something e.g. You can thank me by doing all the legwork for our next assignment.
- to get a hold of (expression): to contact
e.g. I've been trying to get a hold of this person I want to interview.

Learning Points

Passive Infinitives and Gerunds

You use the passive infinitive or -ing form in some constructions using the passive voice.

You use the passive voice when you want to focus on the receiver of the action, rather than the doer (agent).

If the subject is not the agent, you use a passive infinitive:

For example:

The systems are to be checked as soon as possible.

You use passive -ing forms after verbs that are normally followed by a gerund (love, recall etc.)

For example:

I love being given chocolates!

You can use the passive -ing form with the meaning of because.

For example:

Having been bitten by a dog, I have no love of them.*

Examples:

- Having been given all these tasks as an editorial assistant has kept me busy.
- There'll be a lot to be taken on.
- Besides, I think being promoted to junior editor would be cool.

Learning Points

The Future Continuous and Future Perfect Tenses

You use the Future Continuous to say that something will be in progress at a particular time in the future or is expected to happen in the future.

You can use the Future Perfect Continuous tense to say that something will be happening by a certain time in the future.

Normally, you do not use stative verbs in the continuous tense because they describe states rather than actions. Some examples of stative verbs are: love, doubt, care, believe, remember.

There are some stative verbs you can use in the Future Continuous tense:

1. When they have an active meaning

I'll be tasting it to see if it is good or not.

2. When they emphasize change or development

More schools will be including exercise classes as part of their curriculum.

The structure of the Future Perfect Continuous tense is:

subject + will have been + verb-ing

For example:

We will only have been working here for a month.

Examples:

- We'll have been working in the industry for a while.
- We'll have been writing copy for book jackets for ages.
- I'll be applying for the position.
- He'll be thinking about what he can do.

