

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Doing research can sometimes take a long time!

Learning Outcome

Discuss factual and abstract information about common everyday or job related topics in both work and social contexts appropriate for the interlocutor.

Ask your partner:

- How do you do research for an assignment?
- Where do you look?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about an unusual or unique event related to work topics.
- I can request or report facts about events or actions related to work issues.
- I can talk about expectations for the future.

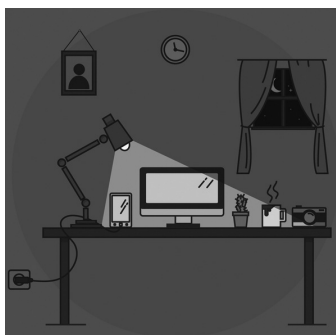

Let's Explore!

What is Adam worried about? Is it something major?

* If something is "major" it is very important.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Kristi: Adam, you're here. You're looking much better this morning.
- Adam: Hey. Thanks. I'll be feeling much better too after I've had a good night's sleep. Although after having started my research, I don't know when that will be. Have you started doing any legwork for the assignment?
- Kristi: Research? Why would we have to do legwork? Did you do any? There isn't much accessible information about him online.
- Adam: I tried. You're right but how else are we supposed to get hold of some information then?
- Kristi: Well, I'll be having a meeting with the author in a few days. I'll be expecting a reply back today via e-mail or phone telling me which day works for him.
- Adam: What do you mean? We can do that? You're telling me this now? After having spent hours last night frantically trying to get the scoop online, when I could have gone to bed?
- Kristi: I guess. You also should have checked your messages. I texted you about this.
- Adam: I didn't get any texts from you! You should have just called me.
- Kristi: I'm sorry. Will I be hearing about this all day long?
- Adam: No no. I just would have preferred to have slept all night rather than reading through those articles.
- Kristi: I said I was sorry Adam.
- Adam: I know. I'm just giving you a hard time.
- Kristi: It's okay. Anyway, you must have felt overwhelmed.
- Adam: I was. On that note, is Boris in today?
- Kristi: No, he's gone to Chicago.
- Adam: He e-mailed me yesterday, said he wanted to speak to me. I'll be thinking about what it could possibly be until he gets back.
- Kristi: I'm sure it's nothing major.

Let's Practice!

Adam and Kristi discuss their assignments.

Instructions: Match the words from Column A to the definition in column B. Then, write a sentence with each of the words from Column A.

COLUMN A

1. legwork
2. get hold of
3. the scoop
4. accessible
5. to read through

COLUMN B

- () easy to obtain
- () information; news
- () to read all of something
- () tedious work
- () to obtain

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____
4. _____
5. _____

Let's Practice!

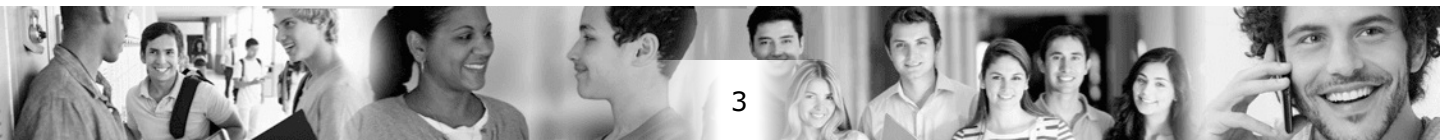

What can Kristi and Adam expect?

Instructions: Use the phrases from the Word Bank to correctly complete the sentences. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

Word Bank

feeling much better / thinking about what / expecting a reply back /
hearing about this / having a meeting

1. I'll be _____ with the author in a few days.
2. I'll be _____ today via email or phone telling me which day works for him.
3. Will I be _____ all day?
4. I'll be _____ too after I've had a good night's sleep.
5. I'll be _____ it could possibly be until he gets back.

Extension Activity

Write a dialogue.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Write down a list of verbs that change meaning in the Continuous tense.
- Write a dialogue (12-15 lines) using 4 of these verbs. Use them in the Simple Future tense and the Future Continuous tense.
- Proofread your dialogue.
- Practice reading it aloud with a partner.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I identify verbs that refer to a state.

☐
☐

I use verbs which change meaning when used to refer to actions that are unfinished.

☐
☐

I practice reading a dialogue aloud with my partner.

☐
☐

Target Words

- legwork (noun): the hard tedious work that has to be done in order to achieve something e.g. Have you started doing any legwork for the assignment?
- get hold of (expression): to obtain e.g. How else are we supposed to get hold of some information then?
- the scoop (expression): information; news
e.g. I've been frantically trying to get the scoop online!
- accessible (adjective): easy to obtain
e.g. There isn't much accessible information online.
- to read through (verb): to read all of something
e.g. I'm reading through all the articles.

Learning Points

The Perfect Infinitive: -ing Forms

You use perfect infinitives in two ways:

1. After link verbs like seem and appear to refer to a previous time period.
2. After phrases expressing emotions and feelings.

When you talk about results and time, we can use an -ing form to emphasize that one thing happens before another.

For example:

I didn't remember having met her before.

Having finally understood what they meant, I began to do my work.*

Examples:

- After having spent hours last night frantically trying to get the scoop online, I went to bed.
- I just would have preferred to have slept all night rather than reading through all those articles.

Future Continuous: Stative Verbs

Normally, you do not use stative verbs in the continuous tense because they describe states rather than actions.

You use the Future Continuous to talk about an unfinished action or event that will be in progress at a time later than now.

There are some stative verbs you can use in the Future Continuous tense.

1. When they have an active meaning
I'll be tasting it to see if it is good or not.

2. When they emphasize change or development
More schools will be including exercise classes as part of their curriculum.

Examples:

- I'll be having a meeting with the author in a few days.
- I'll be expecting a reply back today via email or phone telling me which day works for him.
- Will I be hearing about this all day?
- I'll be feeling much better too after I've had a good night's sleep.
- I'll be thinking about what it could possibly be until he gets back.

